To Whom It May Concern,

I have been a General Contractor for twelve years. Though I have done a various array of construction types, I tend to build mostly super high end residential custom homes. During these twelve years I have used approximately nine different framing and foundation specialists, the most recent of which is Ryan Chetaud with Chetaud Pro Builders. Ryan has done several jobs with me, including my current project at 12869 La Cresta Drive in Los Altos Hills. Every time we have worked together on a project, his organization, supervision, and work were handled in a diligent and proficient manner.

Though there are many contractors in the field today who are able to perform the services provided by Ryan and his crew, few are able to perform them with the level of intelligence and accuracy he has shown to me completing these difficult custom home projects. Ryan's attention to detail and tenacious attitude have brought me nothing but satisfaction. It is always great to have a contractor who catches their own issues with not only their own work but also the work of others, the architects', and engineers' plans. Typically I spend half of my time finding and correcting contractors' mistakes, but that has not been true with him. He has even been observant enough to catch mistakes that I have made.

A Contractor's attitude is also very important to me. Working with high end clients presents a special challenge due to the level of money being spent and a never ending pursuit of absolute perfection. Ryan's charismatic and professional attitude has created a high level of comfort for me. He always presents my clients with comprehensive knowledge and thoughtful problem solving to help with even the most difficult of situations. His crew also displays a high level of respect towards my clients and the other Contractors on site. This in unquestionably due to the example Ryan sets for them.

I would be more than happy to further discuss Ryan's qualifications with you. Please feel free to contact me by phone at (408) 203-4140 or via email at jared\_wilcox@msn.com.

Sincerely,

Jared Wilcox
